

UNDERWOOD FOR COMPETITIVE TARIFF

Chairman of Ways and Means Committee Announces His Opinion

DISCUSS SCHEDULE B

Final Hearing on Earthenware and Glassware Schedule is Held

OTHER WASHINGTON DOINGS

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., JAN. 9.—Democratic and Republican leaders in the legislature conferred until a late hour tonight in apparently fruitless efforts to break the deadlock over the speakership in the house.

Although there were frequent rumors of a combination that would effect a break in the situation when the gavel falls tomorrow morning, for the 25th roll call on the speakership, it was stated shortly before midnight by the men in position to know that all tentative "deals were off" and that the house would begin tomorrow right where it had stopped at adjournment tonight.

After stating that he would depart from Springfield for Chicago tonight, Roger C. Sullivan, former Democratic national committeeman from Illinois, changed his mind and decided to remain here for tomorrow's session of the house. This and a conference of some of the Republican leaders with Mr. Sullivan started a flurry of rumors and predictions, none of which could be established as being worthy of credence.

Republican and Democratic leaders are anticipating a break in the deadlock in the senate early next week. Following today's adjournment, members of the committees of the two parties and W. I. Mann, Democratic leader, were in conference for some time. As a result, it is said, the Republican organization will have a tangible proposal to submit for a bi-partisan alliance when the senators return to Springfield next Tuesday.

The senate will meet perfunctorily Saturday morning and adjourn until Tuesday morning. By agreement no business is to be transacted until after the arrival of the afternoon trains from Chicago on Tuesday.

The session of the senate was brief and to the point. A test vote was taken on the election of a sergeant at arms. Twenty-four Republicans voted in favor and no votes were recorded against. The adjournment was then taken, after Lieutenant Governor Oglesby had announced that it would require twenty-six votes to elect any official of the body.

Progressives Try "Stunt."
The meeting of the house at 10:45 o'clock was preceded by a caucus of the twenty-five Progressive members. In the caucus they agreed that on the second ballot of the morning they would withdraw their strength from Carter and vote solidly for W. A. Hubbard, the candidate of the "ultra dry" Republicans. This was for the purpose of giving the "progressive" Republicans an opportunity to combine on Hubbard.

The Republicans did not avail themselves of the opportunity and after two ballots had been taken the Progressives deserted Hubbard and returned to Carter.

With the exception of this fluctuation and one or two minor changes, due to absences from the room or personal action the balloting of the morning was monotonous.

The ballots at the morning session were as follows:

Eleventh Ballot.
Tice, 48; Rapp, 11; McLaughlin, 23; Ryan, 3; Hubbard, 14; Karch, 15; Carter, 24; Stedman, 4; McKinley, 3.

Twelfth Ballot.
Tice, 50; Rapp, 10; McLaughlin, 27; Ryan, 4; Hubbard, 40; Karch, 15; Carter, 0; Stedman, 4; McKinley, 3.

Thirteenth Ballot.
Tice, 50; Rapp, 11; McLaughlin, 27; Ryan, 2; Hubbard, 40; Karch, 13; Carter, 0; Stedman, 4; McKinley, 4.

Fourteenth Ballot.
Tice, 50; Rapp, 10; McLaughlin, 27; Ryan, 1; Hubbard, 15; Karch, 15; Carter, 25; Stedman, 4; McKinley, 5.

Fifteenth Ballot.
Tice, 50; Rapp, 10; McLaughlin, 27; Ryan, 2; Hubbard, 15; Karch, 14; Carter, 25; Stedman, 4; McKinley, 5.

Sixteenth Ballot.
Tice, 50; Rapp, 10; McLaughlin, 27; Ryan, 3; Hubbard, 15; Karch, 14; Carter, 25; Stedman, 4; McKinley, 5.

A great many of the members of the house wanted to adjourn until Tuesday, after they had heard of the action of the senate, but some of the Democrats claimed to have word from Governor-elect Dunne that he wanted them to continue balloting. David Shanahan, Republican floor leader, stated on the floor that he had been asked to make a motion to adjourn until Tuesday, but had refused, because he did not want the Republicans to be in any way to blame for the postponement of the inaugural ball. Ryan moved an adjournment until Tuesday, but when McLaughlin objected and asked instead a recess until 3 o'clock, he agreed and this action was taken.

DEMANDS ACCOUNTING OF HIS SECURITIES

SPALDING FILES PETITION ATTACKING STATESMEN

Governor Dunne, Former Governor Yates and Andrew Russell Are Among Those Named as Defendants in Petition.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Charles Warren Spalding, president of the Globe Savings bank when it failed in 1897, and treasurer of the University of Illinois, to which was held responsible for $549,000.42, filed here today a petition in the superior court attacking Governor Charles S. Dunne, former Governor Richard Yates, and a number of others. Spalding, who served a penitentiary term after the bank failed, demands that the defendants account to him for the disposition of the securities he turned over to the university to make good the sum he owed the institution. His claims that the bonds were more than sufficient to clear his liabilities, and he asks for an accounting and the return to him of the alleged balance after his liabilities were settled.

Spalding claims that disbursements by him for the university had reduced his true liabilities to $152,000. The securities and property he turned over to make this good he says, were worth $396,300. Other defendants in the bill are Francis M. Mackay, trustee of the University of Illinois in 1907; J. H. McCullough, Henry H. Lutz, Mose O. Williamson, Floyd Whittemore, Nathan G. Moore, Edwin E. Hill, Andrew Russell, Fred A. Busse and Len Small.

Sensational charges against the defendants are made in the bill. Spalding asserts that he was entitled to know in what manner his property was used for the benefit of the university but that information was withheld from him. He says that some of the defendants used improper influence in the handling of the securities.

WINKFIELD TELLS OF HIS PART IN ARCHBALD LETTER THLFT

Declares He Did Not Take Letters But Was "Let in On the Deal" On the Promise That He Would Keep Quiet.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Willis W. Winkfield, negro, the former employee of the Standard Oil company who assisted in purloining what are known as the Archbald letters, which eventually reached the public through William Randolph Hearst, today told how he got in on the deal.

He scoffed at the report that $34,000 was paid for the letters. Frank Morris, an office boy and file clerk in the office of the oil company and Charles Stump, were taking letters from the files one day after office hours when Winkfield suddenly confronted them. They promised to "let him in on the deal" if he would keep quiet. He said he accepted this proposal because the Standard Oil company had refused to raise his salary, although he had worked for them for several years.

Winkfield was asked if he had been followed by emissaries of anyone concerned in the publication or suppression of the letters but he declined to answer on advice of counsel.

Winkfield left tonight for Washington where he will appear Saturday before the senate committee on privileges and elections to testify about the alleged stealing of the letters and their sale to Hearst. Simultaneously with his leaving, there came to light a story of a fight two weeks ago between an attorney named Stewart, who came here as a representative of former Senator Foraker, and alleged agents of persons who have been connected with publicity of the letters.

Stewart was severely beaten and "relieved" of letters and telegrams sent him by Foraker, it was said.

Certain original letters which passed between Foraker and agents were wanted by the men who attacked Stewart. It is understood and it was with the determination to obtain them that they set out to search for him. Stewart and Winkfield were found on the south side about daylight and the fight followed. The originals were not found in Stewart's possession but other telegrams and letters which are believed to throw more light on the case were obtained, it is said and they probably will be turned over to the senate investigating committee when Winkfield testifies.

ELEVEN DIE OF EPIDEMIC.

Cairo, Ill., Jan. 9.—A report tonight from Gale, Ill., claimed that Robert Dunes, a prominent resident of the town had died from spinal meningitis, bringing the death list from the epidemic to 11. Two new cases have developed.

Dr. C. E. Duncan, placed in charge of the situation by Dr. Wetervelt of the state board of health has ordered a large supply of provisions to be distributed in the affected district to relieve the threatened food shortage.

GOVERNMENT'S PETITION IS GRANTED

New York, Jan. 9.—The government's petition for a permanent injunction against the eastern states lumber dealers' association, alleged to be a combination in restraint of trade, was granted today by the federal district court. Final arguments for and against the injunction were heard a few weeks ago.

BANK RECORDS SHOW ENORMOUS PROFITS

First National of New York Has Made a Profit of $80,000,000

GEO. F. BAKER TESTIFIES

Institution Since 1873 is Estimated to Have Paid Dividends of 18,550 Per Cent

IS DIRECTOR IN MANY FIRMS

WASHINGTON, JAN. 9.—Enormous profits by the First National bank of New York city were recounted today by George F. Baker, chairman of the board of directors of the bank as a witness before the house money trust committee. Mr. Baker furnished the committee with records showing that since its organization in 1863 with a capitalization of $500,000, the bank has made profits amounting to more than $80,000,000.

In the four year since 1908 Mr. Baker told the committee, the bank had paid dividends of 226 per cent, or more than twice the total capitalization, which is now $10,000,000. When the capital was increased to that amount in 1901 a special dividend of $9,500,000 was declared. Mr. Baker said, to enable the stockholders to take up the additional investment.

In 1908 in order to provide $10,000,000 of capital for the organization of the first securities company to take over the business "which the bank could not do under the law," Mr. Baker said a special dividend of $10,000,000 was declared. This was in addition to the regularly yearly dividends.

Dividends of 18,550 Per Cent.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, from the figures supplied by Mr. Baker, calculated that since he assumed the presidency of the First National bank in 1873, that institution has paid dividends of 18,550 per cent on its original capitalization. Mr. Baker opposed the suggestion made by Mr. Untermyer that national banks be required to make public their assets, in order that depositors and stockholders might know the nature of securities held by the banks, the witness asserting that he saw no possible good that could come of such a provision.

There is no impropriety in one man holding directorship in two or more potentially competitive banks, railroads or industrial corporations, Mr. Baker said. Mr. Untermyer reviewed with him a long list of railroads in which he was a director, some of which the lawyer held were potentially competing lines.

Mr. Baker said it was rather an advantage to hold such directorships "because differences between the companies thus can be readily adjusted."

Gives His List of Holdings.

The witness could not see why one bank should not control another and after spirited arguments with the attorney, consented to give a list of his holdings in the various banks and trust companies in New York. He said that he owned 4600 shares in the National Bank of Commerce, fifty shares in the Chase National Bank, 1500 Bankers' Trust, 1000 Guaranty Trust, 250 New York Trust, 100 Farmers' Loan & Trust and 350 Astor Trust company shares.

Mr. Untermyer took up the acquisition of about 42,000 shares of National Bank of Commerce policy by Mr. Baker and George H. Stilman from the Mutual and Equitable insurance companies. Mr. Baker said that he could not remember the details and the transaction, but that he and J. P. Morgan and Mr. Stilman had conferred about the purchase, and that they had tacitly agreed that the stock was to be divided after the purchase. A part went to Mr. Morgan, Mr. Baker said. The purchase of the stock of the Equitable Assurance society by Mr. Morgan with a contingent interest by Mr. Baker and Mr. Stilman also was discussed.

Mr. Untermyer elicited that an attempt was now being made to purchase the company and have the policy holders take over the stock interest at the price Mr. Morgan paid for it.

In answer to further questions Mr. Baker said he was a director in the Burlington and Northern Pacific railroads, which he said were competitors between certain points, a director of the New York Central, the Erie, Lehigh Valley and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroads, competing between New York and Chicago.

The Decision's Effect.

Mr. Baker asserted he could see no objection to one man holding directorship in two companies that might compete. Mr. Untermyer asked about the conduct of the coal roads in which he was interested, when the law forces them to dispose of their control of the coal mines in the anthracite region.

"They just formed a sales company, sold the mines and the com-

WILSON DISCUSSES SPECIAL SESSION

HOLDS CONFERENCES WITH O'GORMAN AND CULBERSON

Governor Also Reviews Corporation Bills Drafted For Introduction in Coming State Legislature—Essex Cavalry Will Escort Governor in Inaugural Parade.

TRENTON, N. J., JAN. 9.—President-elect Wilson today continued his conference with Democratic leaders. He talked with Senators O'Gorman and Culberson following, as he expressed it, his usual course of inquiry as to the most advisable subjects to take up in the extra session of congress and obtaining the personal views of his callers as to certain cabinet possibilities.

"We discussed the special session, what should be done and how little should be attempted, the governor said.

Mr. Wilson pointed out, incidentally, that while he was seeking to consult with many of his friends as possible the fact that some of his intimate advisers during the campaign have not yet appeared at the state house should not be construed as a disinclination on his part to consult them.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "Some of my friends are catching up only now with personal business neglected during the campaign and really are too busy to come."

The governor today reviewed with Chancellor Walker and Judge Van Syckel the corporation laws they have drafted for introduction in the coming session of the state legislature.

These bills, the governor, said, will have the effect of increasing the number of offenses designated as misdemeanors and will prohibit as far as possible the formation of holding companies.

The president-elect announced that he had chosen the Essex Cavalry troop of Newark, N. J., to act as his personal escort in the inaugural parade. He said he hoped a place would be found in the procession for the Princeton students who have expressed a desire to participate; but that these arrangements were in the hands of the inaugural committee.

Mr. Wilson will stay in Princeton tomorrow until 5:47 p. m., when he will take a limited train for Chicago, arriving at 2 p. m., Saturday for the banquet that night at the Commercial club.

STRIKE TROUBLES ARE RENEWED IN KANAWHA COAL DISTRICT

Mine at Standard Has Been Fired, Dynamite Has Been Placed Under Building and Crew of Coal Train Fired Upon.

Charles, W. Va., Jan. 9.—Conditions in the Kanawha coal district are being watched by the authorities with a possibility that the militia again will be sent into the field. Within the last 24 hours a mine at Standard, W. Va., has been fired and crew of a coal train has been fired upon with rifle and dynamite has been placed under a number of buildings.

The mine is burning fiercely to night. It was fired late last night and efforts are being made to trace the incendiaries. The loss, it is said, will be heavy.

At Holley Grove, hundreds of shots were fired at the crew of a coal train. None was injured. The shots were fired, it is believed, in an effort to intimidate the railroad men and prevent them from hauling coal from mines where a strike is on.

The strike district has been invaded twice since last April by state military. The last proclamation of martial law issued by Governor Glasscock has never been withdrawn, although the soldiers returned to their homes some time ago.

panies sold the coal to the railroads at the mines," Mr. Baker said. "Just whipped the devil around the stump."

"Yes, that is it."

Mr. Baker will resume the stand tomorrow. Comptroller of the Currency Murray, it was made known today, will decide to furnish the house money trust committee in response to its request a list of loans of $1,000,000 or more made by national banks to any one person or any one interest.

Mr. Murray said he regarded as confidential the information of this character which he possessed and would feel constrained to refuse to divulge it unless ordered by the president.

Only thirteen banks are permitted to loan as much as $1,000,000 to any individual, and it was pointed out that the committee might procure the information by subpoenaing officers of these banks.

What becomes a test in the courts of the power of the committee in investigating the affairs of the national banks developed today when the committee and the house unanimously directed the speaker to certify to the district attorney of the District of Columbia, the case of George G. Henry, the New York banker who refused to divulge the names of national bank officers who profited by the flotation of California petroleum stock. The district attorney will be asked to proceed against Mr. Henry for contempt.

Adjourned at 5:25 p. m. until noon tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 9.—"I would like to see a competitive tariff all along the line," Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee, Democratic leader of the house, announced at the final hearing on the earthenware and glassware schedule today.

Mr. Underwood had been hearing arguments aimed at securing a lowering of the tariff of 55 and 60 per cent to 30 and 35 per cent ad valorem on china, earthenware, porcelain, stone and crockery ware, including clock cases, statues, steins, lamps and a host of similar articles taxed at the higher rate in sections 94 and 95 of Schedule B, of the Payne-Adrich tariff law.

"It looks to me," Mr. Underwood continued, "as if Sections 93 and 94 are more competitive than most of the paragraphs we have to deal with. That is my judgment subject to reservation if any information is brought out that might develop to the contrary."

This view was radically divergent from the presentation of the importers' case by M. S. Pitcairn of New York city, whose protest against the "exorbitance of the present tariff" and portrayal of the details of the business of bringing in English and other earthenware and other products led to sharp colloquies with Representatives Payne of New York and Longworth of Ohio. Several other importers of other products urged lower tariffs while retention of the present rates was the slogan of representatives of American manufacturers.

A charge that a photographic trust exists was made by William O. and C. G. Gennert of New York City, who contended that the Eastman company controlled seven-eighths of the business of the industry of this country. They said "the profits of the Eastman company are so enormous that it would hardly be possible to state the point at which it could not afford to sell a camera at a profit," and added that putting cameras on the free list would benefit everybody.

The committee will tomorrow hear representatives of iron and steel industries on the proposed revision of the metal schedule.

Indian Appropriation Passed. The Indian appropriation bill, carrying approximately $8,000,000, was passed by the house late today. The principal items in the bill as finally adopted include for gratuity appropriations $6,084,093; for filling treaty stipulations $740,560, and for reimbursable items $850,000.

Speak in Defense. A protest against any action by the senate based upon an "appeal to passion or prejudice," marked the closing arguments today in the defense of Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States commerce court, under trial by impeachment for misbehavior as a federal judge.

Declaring that Judge Archbald had violated no law, nor had been

WOMEN DEMOCRATS ELECT PRESIDENT

MRS. STEPHEN B. AYRES CHOSEN HEAD OF ORGANIZATION

Question of Whether Gov. Wilson Endorsed Her Candidacy Causes Dissension in Debates—Mrs. Crosby and Mrs. Scott Clash.

WASHINGTON, JAN. 9.—Questions whether President-elect Wilson is a free trader and a single tax advocate, and whether he, together with Senator O'Gorman of New York had endorsed Mrs. Stephen B. Ayres for the presidency of the Woman's National Democratic league, caused dissension in debates at the second day's session of the convention of that organization here today.

These subjects precipitated a particular clash between Mrs. John Sherwin Crosby of New York, the retiring president of the organization, and Mrs. M. T. Scott, president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Scott had ascended to the platform from which to make her speech nominating Mrs. Ayres when she was asked by the president to step down and speak from the floor. The announcement caused much dissatisfaction among the delegates. Mrs. Scott, after saying she had been insulted, began her nomination speech in which she made the statement that Mrs. Ayres had been endorsed for the office by President-elect Wilson and Senator O'Gorman.

Nominating and seconding speeches displayed much feeling at times and it was with difficulty that the chair was able to maintain a semblance of order. The greatest show of feeling came when the election for president had been completed and the announcement made that Mrs. Ayres had been elected. At this point Mrs. Crosby from the chair said:

"I am very glad, ladies, that you have elected a new president. Regarding the statement referring to Mr. Wilson, I wish to say that both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are friends of mine and I know he would not interfere in an election of this organization. I propose that he shall hear how his name has been brought into this affair. I have lost the election because of the question of whether I am a free trader and single taxer or not, and since this is the case, I do not care to preside over such a narrow-minded set of women."

Mrs. Crosby's statement was made after Mrs. Scott had risen to a point of personal privilege and attempted to defend her previous statement that President-elect Wilson and Senator O'Gorman had endorsed Mrs. Ayres.

The old board of directors were re-elected, headed by Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

GRAND JURY WILL INVESTIGATE ATTORNEYS FOR DR. W. T. KIRBY

Judge Landis Orders Action With the Object of Starting Prosecutions For Subordination of Perjury.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Attorneys who defended Dr. William T. Kirby and his wife, Margaret L. Kirby, given indeterminate jail sentences today in connection with the failure of the Kirby private bank, are to be investigated by a grand jury regarding their conduct in the case.

United States District Judge Landis ordered District Attorney Wilkerson to take such action, with the object of starting prosecutions for subordination of perjury. The judge's arraignment of the defense showed that he believed the story of Dr. Kirby to the effect that he lost $10,000 by a wire tapping scheme was untrue.

Dr. Kirby's attorneys are Patrick H. O'Donnell, Thomas B. Lantry, Francis J. Houlihan and James Rosenthal.

"The district attorney is to review the entire proceedings in this court," Judge Landis said. "Attention is called to the testimony given in the case and the conduct of all parties. A license to practice law does not entitle such persons to a license to cause perjury or to impede the due administration of justice."

Pending a review of the case by the United States circuit court of appeals the doctor and his wife were allowed their liberty on bonds.

A warrant charging perjury was issued tonight for Roger DeCoverly, who testified in behalf of Dr. Kirby. It was at the DeCoverly home, according to witnesses, that Dr. Kirby lost his money to the wire tappers. The warrant was signed by Michael Cesas, attorney for the bank which is acting as receiver of the Kirby institution.

It is believed the bodies of the four missing persons may be found in the ruins of the hulk, which floated down the river in flames.

ATTORNEY LOSES $11

New York, Jan. 9.—Attorney John B. Gleason lost his suit today against Mrs. Mary Conely, who recovered $53,000 counsel fee for defending her son, Harry K. "law," at his first trial for murder. The federal court ordered a decision in Mrs. Thaw's favor, with costs.

MUCH SUFFERING AT ADRIANOPLE

Official News Describes Situation in Besieged Town as Desperate

DEATH RATE IS HIGH

Commander Declares He Would Rather See All Die Than Surrender Fortress

MANY ARE DESERTING RANKS

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Official news received by the Bulgarian delegation describes the situation at Adrianople as desperate. Several soldiers who deserted and succeeded in reaching the headquarters of the allies say the town is in its last gasp. Provisions are so scarce that the military authorities have requisitioned all the food possessed even by private individuals, and are making only one distribution, comprising a half ration daily.

Conditions have been made graver by the great number of sick who overflow the hospitals, where the attendance is inadequate. Thus the death rate is high. The Bulgars have allowed medicine and Red Cross workers to enter under the escort of a Bulgarian detachment.

The commander of the fortress has declared that he would see all die of starvation rather than surrender the town; that is why all who can are endeavoring to escape. The Bulgars believe that even independently of any action the powers may take the question of Adrianople soon will be solved.

It is understood that Constantinople has accepted the views of Rechad Pasha, who recently asked to be authorized to reconvoke the conference, he being president for the next sitting. The difficulty now lies in the determination of the allies not to participate unless they are notified in advance what Turkey intends to do. They do not wish to revive the discussion of unacceptable terms, but desire to have it as a certainty that Turkey is ready to cede what has been pronounced as the irreducible minimum of the allies—Adrianople, after which it will be possible to discuss the frontier line which must leave that town in the hands of the allies.

In other words, the allies do not wish to play into Turkey's hands by re-entering the conference room with out a definite program which may lead to the definite conclusion of the peace this time. Before the meeting the Turks and allies must have unofficially agreed to the main points of the territorial clauses of the treaty so that official ratification of those agreements can be had in the conference.

The dinner given to night by Paul Cambon, the French ambassador to Great Britain, at which the Turks and allies met for the first time on neutral ground, is looked upon as offering an excellent opportunity for the plenipotentiaries to take the first step in the direction of an unofficial understanding.

It is also suggested that the British foreign secretary, Sir Edward Grey, in his capacity as honorary president of the conference might take the initiative, thereby obviating the necessity of either of the parties appearing to make the first advances. This could be accomplished only if the allies were assured that Turkey was prepared to give up Adrianople.

VICTORY IS IMPORTANT.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The government's victory at New York today against the so-called lumber trust is regarded by officials of the department of justice as one of the most important accomplishments under the Sherman anti-trust law because it limits, in large measure, the power and privileges of the much discussed "middle man" in commerce.

"The decision is construed here as meaning that the consumer of lumber may purchase direct from the wholesaler or manufacturer and the latter may sell direct to the public without interference of a combination of retailers."

EAST COURT STREET PAVEMENT

The Objectors Heard in Court in the Presence of a Large Audience—Many Present Who Are Interested in Such Work.

The famous East Court street pavement case came up yesterday before Judge G. W. Weaver of Sangamon county by change of venue according to agreement and attracted a large number of persons. The objectors were ably represented by L. O. Vaught and the defense retained A. H. Baer of Belleville, a special expert in such matters and also W. N. Hairgrove and Bellatti, Barnes and Bellatti.

In the opening Mr. Vaught stated five chief objections. The curb and gutter were insufficient in several places not having a radius for entrance at some places. The foundation was poor, weak and rotten and not made according to specifications; not enough cement, not mixed properly, and was not up to mark, gravel was dirty and the foundation was not set properly and the work was not in accordance with the specifications and ordinance.

The foundation was not spread evenly and tamped according to specifications and instead of being four inches thick as called for it was in some places only two inches. The pavement was not the full width called for so that an excess of 473 yards has been charged equaling an excess charge of some $853. The charge for $600.00 interest should not be allowed nor all the court costs of $500.55.

J. M. Donovan, the inspector, was the first witness and occupied the chair a large part of the day. He said he had protested against accepting the work but the city had done so nevertheless.

Mr. Baer: "In spite of your objections the board of local improvement accepted the work."

In response to questions he stated a number of defects and complained that he did not receive the hearty cooperation of the board of local improvement in insisting on good work. In front of the parochial school property the curbing was not cut according to specifications. An iron plate should be inserted each five feet and drawn out when the curb is set dividing it into separate sections but the plates were placed nine or ten feet apart.

In front of Mr. Engel's property the foundation was poor and incomplete and the contractor refused to take it out and put it in right and Engineer Henderson let them patch it up by putting cement on top of it. In some places the curb roller against it and breaking it. At the ends of the pavement at East and Brown streets the stone headings which should be between the new pavement and the old were not in size nor setting according to specifications but when told about it the engineer said let them stand. In some places instead of cutting the curb each five feet marks were simply made in the surface of the concrete to imitate cuts.

In digging into the street for sewer and water connections the surface of the ditches made were not properly treated in preparing the foundation. At the beginning the foundation was very poor and the city engineer let the contractor put on half to three fourths of an inch of cement. In one place the inspector ran his rule through the foundation after it was down and found it only two inches thick instead of four. The foreman told the men to throw on some shovelfuls of material which they did and raked it over. The sand was poor, not clean and sharp; the gravel was dirty and not clean and free from clay or soil, but the city engineer let it go. The last 75 to 90 feet to the west end was the best part of the work. There were no grade stakes to show how deep the foundation should be till to the last third of the work. Opposite the McCullough house twelve sacks of cement were used when there should have been eighteen; near the Rowe buildings they used thirty-eight sacks of cement when they should have used at least fifty-seven.

He told how some of the pavement was taken up and relaid according to orders. He said the foundation was not tamped as it should have been and to this the defense objected as it was not specified in the written objections and the court sustained the objection and it was understood that the declaration could be amended at any time and thus the defense would have notice of what they would have to meet.

The witness stated various other matters most of which have already been published and then was turned over to the defense. The examination by Mr. Baer was a grilling indeed. The first questions were asked to draw out the fact that the witness had had no experience that would fit him for the work of an inspector. Then he was asked to produce the memoranda from which he had gotten the figures he used so freely and said he had none and was asked how it was that he remembered so many figures. The witness replied he felt there would be trouble over the work and he was careful to recall everything. Mr. Baer asked him if he was a superintendent placed there by the city or a spotter for the property owners and that brought the attorney for the property owners to his feet at once and the question was not urged. He was asked if he conferred with the property owners and said he did. Asked if he didn't have trouble with the city about the amount of his bill and said there had been some difference of opinion in that respect.

A great many more questions were asked and the witness was excused. Others for the property owners examined were Dr. Baker, Dr. Bowe, J. Stice, Miss Bader, J. Moe and W. E. McCurley and all tended to show that the witnesses thought the work was not good or according to specifications at least. The complainants completed their testimony and that ended the day's work. The defense will begin this morning.

The contractor, Mr. Cherry, had in court a piece of the foundation and it was quite hard. Mr. Frank remarked to a Journal reporter that the slower such work was in setting the harder it became and the trouble with ordinary persons was that they saw the foundation when it was green and assumed it would never be solid. Mr. Frank and Simeon Fernandes were interested spectators and assisted Mr. Cherry in his part of the defense. Among others present there were M. D. Schaff of Peoria, the one who supplied the gravel; Chas. Atwood of Taylorville, foreman for Mr. Cherry; J. S. Michels, city engineer of Taylorville; J. G. Pratt, city engineer of Virginia; W. D. Kirkpatrick, a bond dealer from Bloomington and L. D. Lane, a contractor from the same place; Ora Dunlap of Edwardsville, Lee Harper, a contractor from East St. Louis; A. W. Eisenmeyer, a contractor from Granite City and his engineer and others.

YOUNG MOTHERS

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both herself and the coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby, too, is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature. BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

HELP QUARTERLY MEETING.
First Business Session Held at Centenary M. E. Church.

The first quarterly conference of the year was held at Centenary M. E. church Thursday evening. Considerable to the business was transacted, part of which consisted of setting the salary of the district superintendent, the pastor of the church and other conference claimants. Plans were also laid to make out the budget of the church year during the month of January.

The various reports showed that the church is in splendid condition. The Sunday school records show that there has been an average attendance of 317. Rev. W. J. Brown, a local preacher, also read a report and the Ladies' Aid society gave a statement that during the last quarter they had raised over $500. District Superintendent McCarty was present and conducted the business session.

ATTENDANCE INCREASING AT NORTHMINSTER REVIVAL

Rev. W. A. Bodell Preached Last Night on the Subject of "Soul Winning"—Subject For Tonight, "Philip and the Eunuch."

The attendance at the Northminster church revival last night was the largest yet present. The splendid song service was augmented by a violin solo by Miss Hoffman and a vocal solo by Rev. W. A. Bodell. Tomorrow night the evangelist will speak on the subject, "Philip and the Eunuch." The sermon Thursday night was on "Soul Winning," the text being from Prov. 11-30, "He that winneth souls is wise." He spoke in part as follows:

"The crowning work of a human life is to win souls to Christ. It is our most solemn duty and responsibility, yea our highest privilege and greatest joy."

"This was the mission of Jesus. He came to seek and to save the lost. He not only gave us the command but He set us the example. 'Go ye,' he said, 'unto all the world and preach the gospel to every creature.' Why is it that we associate that command with China or India, or Africa, or some unevangelized island of the sea? Is not our own town, our own community, our own family a part of the world just as much as the heathen lands lying at the ends of the earth? This command in its very least application must include all those who are right by your side there in the seat, in the home, in the city. Then we must not forget His teaching. 'Ye are the salt of the earth,' said He; and again 'ye are the light of the world.' 'Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.' But how can the light illumine if it be hid under a bushel? How can the salt save unless it come in contact with that which it is to save? How can we catch men for the larger life if we never set the net?"

"More impressive still than either His commands or His teaching is His own example of personal work. If he healed many, He healed them one at a time. Did you ever go through the Bible and see how many personal dealings He had with men? Sixteen times He had dealings with Peter alone, correcting his faults, strengthening his faith. And His personal interviews with men was not only when He had them alone, but also when He had them in crowds, where He centered His remarks and fixed His attention on one man; as in the case of Zaccheus up in a tree, or singling out the poor afflicted woman in the throng. The first recorded act, when He was but a boy, may be his personal work; the last act of His marvelous life was an act of personal work—speaking His message of acceptance to the thief on the cross."

"And as He did, so ought we to do. The servant is not above His Master but should be as his master. From the savior's prayer in the seventeenth of John, we get a glimpse of our high privilege in this matter: 'For there He said, 'Father, as thou hast sent me into the world, so send I them into the world.' So that, if we are His disciples we are sent just as much as He was sent. Oh, when I think of these wonderful examples, and what John said, that if we abide in Him we ought also to walk even as he walked, I am constrained to say, I long to tread more fully in the footsteps of my Savior as a personal worker."

"There is no more important work than winning souls to Christ. We may truthfully infer from those wonderful words of the Master, 'What will it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul, or what will a man give in exchange for his soul?' that one soul is worth more than the whole world. So important is the salvation of a soul, that we should look upon one man as a big audience. It is said that Dan Webster once took off his hat to a small boy. Ah well may we pause in the presence of a human soul."

"One early morning a vessel was wrecked off the coast of Cornwall. The mast was visible above the water, and to it they could see clinging a man. A young man hurried home to tell his mother that he must go to his rescue. The mother begged him not to go, saying, 'your father sleeps in a watery grave, your brother William was lost at sea, and I cannot give you up. But he replied, 'I must go, and tearing himself away he sprang into a boat and was soon away battling with the waves to reach the unfortunate man. Sometimes the throng would lose sight of him as he went down into the trough of the sea, so deep that it seemed he would never appear again; then they would see him riding on the crest of the wave, and then shouts of encouragements rent the heavens. At last they saw him reach the unfortunate man, help him down from the swaying mast into his boat, and return with him. When he came into hearing distance of the shore, he steadied himself in his boat, and putting his hands to his lips, shouted at the top of his voice, 'he is safe, and tell mother its Brother William.'"

Great news in today's paper on page 7.

All Evidence of Impure Blood and a Run Down Condition.

When the blood becomes thin, poor, revitalized nature cries out through such external and often painful evidence for help, and the safest, surest and most helpful remedy we know is Vinol.

This is because it is a combination of the two most world famed tonics—the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil (without the oil) and tonic iron for the blood. Vinol strengthens the digestive organs, creates a hearty appetite, purifies and enriches the blood, creates strength.

Mary Lang of Altoona, Pa., says: "Ever since childhood I have been delicate and my blood poor, thin, and devitalized. Nothing seemed to help me until I took Vinol and it has built me up and made me strong."

We say positively there is nothing like Vinol to purify and enrich the blood and build up the weak, run-down people. If it should fail in your case we will return the money—Lee P. Allcott, druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.

Semi-Annual Remnant Sale

Short Lengths of Silks, Cotton and Wool Dress

Goods at Below Actual Cost to Manufacture.

When we began to invoice a few weeks ago we marked down to actual cost every remnant we came across in preparation for this sale. But now stock-taking is over we find the accumulation larger than we had expected. Now these remnants must be gotten rid of in short order, and to make sure that this week will mark their exodus we have decided to make an additional reduction of 25 per cent off the marked price, which will be taken off at time of purchase. This brings prices far below the cost to manufacture and is the lowest figure we have ever placed on merchandise of any kind. You will doubtless recognize the urgency of attending this sale at once, as it opens a buying opportunity such as may never occur again in your experience. The merchandise is of this season's manufacture and are clean and desirable in every particular.

guilty of any misdemeanor or wrong doing and had been shown to be a jurist of high integrity and honesty, his attorneys, Alexander Simpson Jr., of Philadelphia, and A. B. Probe Shipping Trust.

The agreement entered into in 1908 by the Lamport & Holt, the Prince and the Hamburg-Southern American Steamship companies, constituting the so-called "shipping trust" between the United States and South America, still is in force, except as it applies to a pooling of interests and rebate system on south bound commerce, according to evidence placed today before the house merchant marine committee investigating the alleged trust.

The statement was in the form of a message from the foreign agent of the Prince line, who cabled the company's representative here on the question. It did not agree with the opinion of Lorenzo Daniels, agent in this country for the Lamport & Holt company, who said he thought it had been terminated.

Mr. Daniels acknowledged that contracts were made by his company and that some contracts were made jointly with the other steamship lines, fixing the freight rates charged. The United States Steel corporation, the Baldwin Locomotive company, the Singer Sewing Machine company and the Barber Asphalt company were mentioned as having had contracts. The rates to be charged, he declared, were fixed abroad, not in New York, by the committee there of the companies. The freight rates varied he said from week to week according to the market, but he added that there was no discrimination in favor of any shippers and that the big shippers were protected so as to give them as low rates as to any one else.

When letters were read from the American Locomotive company and from other shippers declaring that they had been discriminated against in rates, Mr. Daniels vigorously denied it, declaring that in the case of the American Locomotive company efforts had been made to procure concessions and that they were refused.

MISS HINRICHSSEN INJURED.

With ice still covering the streets of Springfield the list of accidents continues to grow. While crossing Third and Allen streets Miss Savill Hinrichsen, 1147 South Third street, fell and sustained a compound fracture of the left wrist. She was able to walk to the office of a physician, who dressed the wound. She will be taken to St. John's hospital.

Miss Meda Duncan was able to be out and at her post in Roberts Bros. grocery after a brief illness.

Louis Leurig, the barber, is quite sick and unable to attend to business.

Considerable sickness exists in the Point neighborhood. In the Vasey family Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vasey are ill with pneumonia, their daughter Esther has a bad attack of the grip and her son Grover, has a rising in each ear, so that he is unable to hear, and talks with difficulty.

Mrs. C. H. Rammekamp is confined to her home by illness.

MRS. OSBORNE SETTLES IT.

The date of the erection of the Phelps & Osborne building has excited a great deal of discussion and aroused considerable interest among elderly citizens. Mrs. Robert Osborne seems to have settled the question as her authority would be that as her husband had the building erected. She says it was in 1866 and M. H. Carroll had a restaurant in the basement the first year.

The January meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of Grace M. E. church was held Thursday afternoon with Mrs. J. I. Graham on South Prairie street with an attendance of twenty. The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Sarah Coking and after the usual reports Mrs. J. J. Reeve gave an able paper on "Mormonism." Her remarks were full of interest and all of the time the could be spared for her address was well used. A letter from North Dakota telling how acceptable the contents of the barrel sent about Thanksgiving were received, and another reporting the receipt of the one sent to Iowa for Christmas, were read, showing how much good can be accomplished with things that people have and do not need, if they only take the trouble to pass them on. There, an article made of powdered olive oil soap and white corn meal, has been ordered and will soon be on sale to make a good income for the society. The enthusiasts were used in an interesting manner and after refreshments the society adjourned to meet with Mrs. Lowdermilk, Feb. 13.

GOOD WORK DONE AT MURRAYVILLE

SCHOOL THERE IS IN EXCELLENT CONDITION.

Pupils, Teachers and Members of the Board are Interested in Educational Work—Progress Made Is Satisfactory.

A short time ago the writer had the pleasure of a visit with the Murrayville schools and surely it was a pleasure to see such a plant, the occupants and the work being done there. Murrayville has the reputation of being a live, wide awake place and her schools are fully in keeping with the rest of the town and even a little more so.

In the first place the board has not been afraid to use a little money judiciously in way of salaries and general equipment and the returns have amply justified the expenditure. They also believe that a structure cannot be all right without a foundation and so they have not only a fine principal at the head, but they have gone on the sensible theory that to have a good upper story the lower must be equally good and so they have used every possible exertion to get first class material in the teaching force of the little ones, the very beginners, not thinking, as is too often the case, that anybody will do for the children in the primary grades.

The result of their efforts is a corps of teachers which (Principal Dial stated with pardonable pride, would equal any in the county. The spirit about the place seems good, the pupils enthusiastic and happy in their work and the teachers working with them in the same manner. Under such circumstances it is no wonder that the board is proud of the principal and teachers, nor is it strange that such good work is being done in the school.

The equipment is good, a fine piano for the upper story and an organ for the others, while maps, charts, books and general supplies are well bestowed. The building is well surrounded by trees, and while a bit more land would be a good thing, the place is in town where as much territory cannot be expected as in the country, where the children mostly stay during the noon hour.

The writer had the pleasure of visiting the upper floor first and there the higher grades were assembled and listened respectfully to what he had to say to them regarding various parts of the world. The music supplied by the pupils is especially fine and once or twice a week there are special exercises participated in by the upper rooms and this a pleasing variety is furnished in addition to the daily program.

The visit to the little folks down stairs was equally pleasant and the caller faced a bright and merry assembly, who responded to all he had to offer to them and fully appreciated his anecdotes, fairy stories and all else.

The directors of the school are: J. E. Osborne, president. J. T. Warcup, secretary. R. W. Mawson.

The writer would say a few good words for these gentlemen in general and the members personally in particular, but he expects to visit the place again and knows well what to expect if any flattery or even merited praise is offered and so he desists.

A GOLD MINE.

The prize fowl among prize fowls on exhibition at the poultry show at Springfield was decided to be a proud barred Plymouth Rock hen owned by G. P. Middendorf of Lincoln, Ill. The distinction goes to the said proud Plymouth Rock hen not because of her weight, not because of her beauty, but because of any five points known to the judges, but because she laid 286 eggs during the year 1912.

During the sleet and snows of the winter, during the snows of the spring, and during the heat of a recent hot summer, the hen kept up her preordained task. The sworn statement of her owner shows that in June, while feeling most chagrined, she deposited 26 eggs in her nest. In November, the month when she was in her poorest form, she managed to turn out a total of 15 good sellers. Other months her capacity was close to that during the month of June.

SULPHURIC ACID KILLED DUCKS

Investigations of the causes for the enormous mortality among wild ducks in the neighborhood of Salt Lake City, Utah, which were instigated by the American Game Protective and Propagation Association, have revealed the fact that sulphuric acid poisoning, and not a contagious disease as was believed, was responsible for the death of two million water fowl in 1910 and nearly as many during the past season.

The association solicited the aid of the biological survey at Washington and through its offices Dr. Buckley of the pathological division of the bureau of animal industry was sent to the scene of the supposed epidemic.

All those who have given the matter attention now concur in Dr. Buckley's conclusion that sulphuric acid discharged into the marshes by industrial plants has destroyed the birds. This discovery paves the way for legislation which should be immediately enacted to prevent this great waste of valuable animal life.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.

Enjoy Using Herpelide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpelide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpelide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpelide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpelide Co., Detroit, Mich.

PRISON DAYS IN CIVIL WAR

CAPT. SWALES WRITES OF EXPERIENCE.

Story Related by Veteran Who Was Imprisoned at Andersonville, Ga. Retrospection of 1912.

One of the members of the Illinois-Andersonville Monument commission was James M. Swales of this city. The dedication of the Illinois-Andersonville monument took place Dec. 20, 1912, at the National cemetery in Andersonville, Ga., and Capt. Swales was among those present to witness the ceremonies. He has written the Journal interestingly of the prison days of '64 and '65 and the fact that he was for a long time a prisoner at Anderson gives him an opportunity to know facts and conditions. His letter follows:

Dear Journal:

About the middle of August, 1864, while Sherman's army was hammering at the gates of Atlanta, I was made a prisoner of war and transferred from an active military career to that of one who had retired from the scenes of strenuous warfare. From Atlanta, with a lot of others, I was taken to Camp Sumner, Sumter county, Georgia, where I was located in the infamous military prison known as Andersonville. When I entered the stockade there was estimated to be a total of 35,000 men huddled together in an enclosure of 23 acres. The space of 18 feet between the dead line and stockade and a large portion of the swamp was rendered uninhabitable by the accumulated filth from the rebel quarters above, which included sinks, cook houses and other disease breeding accessories. These, together with the filth from the stockade in which we were confined, made the enclosure, a den of horror beyond the power of pen to portray or tongue to express. The August sun scorched and withered everything beneath its blighting touch. The sand was alive with a crawling mass of vermin. Dead and dying men were all around me and there was no way to escape the awfulness of the surroundings. Go wherever I might in that castle of living death and despair, in that miry hell of misery the conditions were the same, day after day, month after month.

Autumn came with its leaden clouds and chilling blasts, and the harvest of death kept on and the Grim Sergeant called the roll with painful regularity. Some time in September the rebels at Andersonville got frightened because Atlanta had capitulated and we were loaded in stock trains and carted off to Savannah, where we remained a few weeks. From there we were taken to Millen, where we remained until Sherman had started on his famous march to the sea. This place being near his line of march we were hustled into a lot of old rickety box cars and sent down the Gulf railroad to Blackshear, where we remained for a while, and from there to Thomasville, Ga., after a short sojourn there we were marched to Albany, where we took cattle cars, our destination being the old prison near Andersonville, where we again took quarters for the winter and remained there till the 17th day of April, 1864. Since our departure in September the ground had been plowed and harrowed. On Christmas eve, 1864, Andersonville became our "home" again. The only consolation we had was that the filth had been plowed under. Otherwise the old den was a scene of desolation, death and utter despair to the end of the tragedy. The weather was intensely cold and while there was an abundance of fuel within a stone's throw of the stockade the rebel authorities would neither haul it into us nor allow us to carry it in. In addition to the starvation process hundreds froze to death during December, January, February and March. The sluggish brook which ran through the enclosure froze the thickness of an inch or more. Imagine our condition if you can. Few had shoes and fewer had clothing sufficient to hide their nakedness, much less to protect themselves from the icy blasts of Old Boreas which swept the skeleton army with intense remorseless cruelty.

Had "Royal Feast."

The only time we had a "royal feast" was on Christmas day, 1864. For some reason Capt. Wirz got quite liberal with his grub. Several wagon loads of barrels filled with cow heads, hocks and horns, all boiled together were brought in. In addition to these "delicacies," barrels of half cooked mush and great quantities of rice, scorched on the outside and raw in the middle, were brought into the famishing host. As a result of this "banquet" many died eating the infernal stuff. From that on it was a case of the survival of the strongest until after the curtain was rung down at Appomattox and the great tragedy at Ford's theatre. When I entered the stockade I tipped the beam at 185. When I left the modern inferno I weighed 78 pounds, as complete a physical wreck as ever passed the portals of that modern hell. Even now, nearly a half century after, it all seems a mystery, a dreadful, awful dream and I wonder how I lived through that crime of the century to tell the story today of how we fought off the Grim Reaper during those long months of agony and suffering that have no parallel in the annals of warfare. The 14,000 comrades we left there in the red trenches tell only a part of the tragedy, the crime of the ages and the great conspiracy to put men to death in order to advance a cause that was hopeless from the beginning and which was founded on human oppression, ignorance and superstition, the sum total of all villainy—that of human slavery, which had been a stain on our flag for nearly a century and which was finally to be wiped and cleansed by the blood of nearly 400,000 loyal lives.

Retrospection 1912.

As I stood on the ramparts of the old star fort at dusk on the evening of December 18, 1912, the silence was oppressive and was only broken by the whir of the wings of a bird that was looking for its mate. Many years ago, back in the last half of the preceding century the guns of this old fort had frowned down upon me as a prisoner of war in the old stockade which has long since disappeared and now belongs to the things that were and will be no more forever. Standing there alone, memories of those tedious days, weeks, and months came back with overwhelming force and I wondered how it could be possible that I should return after nearly a half century and look upon the accursed ground where 14,000 brave men perished, rotted and died, inch by inch rather than desert the flag they had sworn to save from treason and dishonor. Since the earliest dawn of civilization there have been martyrs and martyrs but none like those whose passing made Andersonville the great tragedy of the nineteenth century. The scenes of those awful days came vividly back to me. I saw the dead and dying on the hot sands of the fierce summer of '64, and witnessed the terrors of the bleak autumn and cruel winter where the flower of the Union army went down to an inglorious death by the thousands until the mortality toll had reached the strength of a mighty army corps.

From February 24, 1864, until mid-April, 1865, the grim sergeant had been busy calling the roll and as a victim of rebel cruelty and heartless brutality answered to the last awful summons, he took his place in the silent, windowless palace of eternal rest with the firm conviction that he had given up all, to the last fleeting breath, for the eternal principle that all men, regardless of color or previous condition of servitude, should be free, and that the foul stain of human slavery should be wiped from the folds of Old Glory, which was then leading our armies to victory on the blood-soaked fields of the southland. Visions of the past dread days loomed up and I again saw that dreadful castle of despair and untold agony where thousands of my comrades joined the silent majority on fame's eternal camping ground. Day after day, week after week and month after month, I saw their starved, emaciated bodies carted to the cemetery where they were consigned to the red trenches with no covering save the merciful earth. Here within the ramparts of this fort were the headquarters of the inhuman monster, Wirz, who was responsible for nearly all this death-dealing cruelty that has no parallel in the annals of war, ancient or modern. A half mile from where I stood these martyrs to the cause of God and humanity lie sleeping, sleeping the sleep that knows no waking and will sleep on and on till the archangel sounds the bugle call on the morning of the insurrection.

"The neighing troop, the flashing blade,

"The bugle's stirring blast,

"The charge, the dreadful cannonade,

"The din and shout are past.

"Nor war's wild note nor glory's peal

"Shall thrill with fierce delight

"Those breasts that never more may feel

"The rapture of the fight."

The Silent City.

Line after line of white head stones mark the spot where valor proudly sleeps. There are many thousands of these markers in the silent city and beneath each one rests a son of heroic mold who suffered more, endured more and sacrificed more for the Union than any other men in the mighty army who helped to re-write a new constitution in a line of glittering steel, and sealed with the blood of patriotism that was heroic above and beyond all praise. I can realize what it all meant, for I suffered with them and was among them while the grim sergeant was kept busy night and day calling the roll and helped to carry many from that miry hell of despair to the rest found in the ground which welcomed them and gave them that peace which this world can neither give nor take away.

Visits Old Fort.

From one fort to still another I wandered until I had visited all of them, eight all told. The ramparts and ditches are as they were 48 years ago, the difference being that large trees have grown up since the old prison and forts were dismantled at the close of the war. The trees are mostly pine with an occasional black oak and hickory tree. Wandering over the old stockade ground I came across a sign which read: "Twenty-seven men died in this dug out." That means that twenty-seven Union soldiers died in a hole in the ground less than ten feet square. Another sign read: "Here is where Boston Corbett held religious meetings and exhorted men to prepare for the life to come." Boston Corbett was the man who shot and killed J. Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Abraham Lincoln. He was a religious fanatic and believed that all men who did not coincide with his views were doomed to eternal damnation and would be cast into a lake of fire and brimstone. After a long search I found the spot, for nearly nine months "waxed" and "revved" until it took two of me to make a shadow. Markers show where the north and south gates swung open to receive the "fresh fish" and let out the dead wagons which were to convey where they were put to death by the starvation route. Over the portals of these gates should have been inscribed these words:

"He who enters here leave hope behind," only those who had the hope eternal that springs in the breast and this thing we call spirit, the thing that mocks at death and defies fate to do its most service, survived those days of infamous cru-city. Andersonville with its infamous record belongs to history. Nearly all those who had anything to do with the making of that blackest of all black pages in the annals of the civil war have passed to that bourne from which no travelers return, and they are to be judged by the god of battles, for the cruelties practiced upon those who were unfortunate enough to become prisoners of war.

Olive Branch of Peace.

December 20, 1912, so far as was in our power the governor of Illinois, on behalf of the people of this great state, extended the olive branch of peace to the people of the south, when he dedicated the memorial of the memory of the son of Illinois who perished in that prison during the years '64-'65. His address was a classic. He spoke of the heroes who perished there rather than government of the people, by the people and for the people should perish from the earth in a most sadly and eloquent manner. Pointing to the right wing of the pedestal he quoted the words of the immortal Lincoln, "We here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain. That this nation under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, one that government of the people, for the people and by the people shall not perish from the earth." On the left side of the pedestal, the mystic chords of memory stretching from every battlefield to every patriot, to every living heart and hearthstone, all over this broad land will yet swell the chorus of the Union when again it is called, as they surely will be by the better angels of our nature." While the beautiful ceremonies were going on Gov. Deneen received a telegram from the president of the United States congratulating the north and the south upon this renewed evidence of good feeling which tended to obliterate sectional feeling. His reply was in keeping with the spirit of the occasion and doubt will be kept among the cherished records of the U. S. C.

Owing to the time of the year and long distance to Andersonville the attendance at the dedication was not as large as it would have been had the event taken place in May or September.

Those who attended from Illinois were: Governor Deneen, Adjutant General F. E. Dickson, Assistant Adjutant General Col. R. J. Shand and Col. S. D. Tripp, quartermaster general all of Springfield; Capt. and Mrs. J. M. Swales of Springfield, Capt. and Mrs. Louis Lake of Rockford, Capt. Aaron H. McCracken and wife of Chicago; Mrs. G. F. George and son of Springfield, representing Capt. George, one of the commissioners, who was unable to make the trip. There were others whose names I do not now recall, Capt. W. H. Henline of Macomb, one of the commissioners, did not go so there were only three of the five members of the commission present at the dedication.

Monument Finest of Class.

It was the consensus of the opinion of all who have seen the Illinois-Andersonville monument as it stands to day that it is the finest of its class ever erected in any of our national cemeteries. It is built of material that will stand to the end of time. The bronze figures, representing Columbia and posterity, are especially appropriate, Columbia is pointing toward the east, where line upon line of marble markers, even to 1400 or more, stand at the head of a sleeping army corps. A lone bivouac of the dead, who way back in the other century pitched their camp.

"On fame's eternal camping ground, where their silent tents are spread and glory guards with solemn around. The bivouac of the dead."

The trip for the writer was one not soon to be forgotten. He left Springfield with an attack of grip and was sick all the way there and back and has only just begun to recover. Including the first trip there in the summer of 1864, the last outing made five altogether. I think God that I was able to be in at the finish for I started the movement nine years ago last October and through the Providence of God I have lived to see the consummation of a glorious work—a memorial to the heroic sons of Illinois who gave the last full measure of devotion to the flag they died to save.

Fires In Jacksonville

Monday's Courier had the following:

ROOF CATCHES FIRE

"Saturday evening the roof of the residence of Newton Sargent, at 350 West Court street caught fire about 6:30 o'clock, burning a small hole. The fire department was called, but a Babcock extinguisher was used by a member of the department in putting out the fire."

Tuesday's Journal tells of a fire at 302 North East street, caused by a coal oil lamp, at which a woman was badly burned. The Journal says: "In the meanwhile the fire department was called and extinguished the fire with the chemical."

Only lack of information prevents EVERY HOME having its own Babcock. The cost is small; anybody can use it; it is always ready. There is nothing secret about it, and if you call at our office, 110 South West street, we will be glad to explain it to you fully.

"DRY" LEADERS TO CONFER.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 9.—A proposal to change the name of the Prohibition party is one of the important matters that will be considered and acted upon at the big national conference of the party leaders to be held in this city early next week.

Many of the leaders have expressed themselves in favor of a change in the party designation. The advocates of the proposal argue that the word "prohibition" does not convey the full meaning of the party's purposes. It is pointed out that the present name conveys to the average mind only one idea, the prohibition of the liquor traffic, whereas the party has for years been standing for many of the most important progressive principles which only recently have been taken up by the other political parties. Virgil G. Hinshaw of Chicago, the national chairman, is among those of the opinion that a change in name would result in increasing the numerical strength of the party.

The conference here next week will be attended by the members of the national committee, the state chairmen and many other prominent leaders. The recent national campaign in its results will be exhaustively considered with a view to agreeing upon changes in methods for future campaigns. Ways and means for strengthening the party will be discussed. It is likely that the Minnesota plan of making a house to house canvass will be adopted for the entire country.

STOCKMEN TO DISCUSS CONDITIONS.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 9.—The present condition and future outlook of the stock raising industry, and incidentally some of the principal reasons for the existing high price of meats, are to be discussed here next week at a notable conference of farmers and cattle raisers representing the west and southwest. The gathering is to be held under the auspices of the American National Live Stock association. In the official call for the conference the association points to the situation as being acute because of the fact that there is less stock per capita in the country than ever before, and that on account of the limited supply of such stock there will undoubtedly be an attempt by the next congress to place all the products of the farmer and stockmen on the free list. Action will be urged by the conference for securing the enactment of national laws that will give the use of the grazing lands of the public domain to cattle raisers on equitable terms.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

Another Letter From Rev. Melville Kennedy: This Time on the Mediterranean Sea.

This morning the Journal is permitted to present another letter from Rev. Melville Kennedy.

Steamship "Medina."

Dear Mother and all the Family:

As we reach Marseilles Thursday I had better get my letter started.

Myra and I are both sitting here in the saloon at the same table and Bobby is supremely happy, creeping around the spacious, well carpeted floors. We are about two hours out of Gibraltar and heading up the Spanish coast toward France and Marseilles.

The Mediterranean is like a great lake just now, as smooth as Mendota used to be at Madison on calm summer mornings. It is a great relief after the Bay of Biscay where we had rough going for more than a day.

We got out of London, as I wrote you, on Friday noon, leaving by special train and going on board the steamer quite far out of London down the Thames. All was well through the English channel but as we approached the ocean where the channel widens out, it began to grow decidedly rough. The waves were nothing compared to what we had on the Atlantic, but this boat doesn't carry the cargo the Haverford did and therefore pitches more. Then again, our cabin is far forward and we caught the full effect of the pitching. Of course we had to be in the cabin a good deal. I had to leave the table at luncheon and was decidedly off for two days. Nothing was more unexpected for on the Atlantic I had no trouble after a little uncertainty at the start. The Bay of Biscay was fearfully rough and in our position the pitching was terrific. There are a good many babies and children on the boat, but Bobby is the only one, I think, unattended by a nurse. A number of children not very old, are on board in charge of nurses, with their parents back in England or somewhere else. It seems a very strange custom to us. Of course, to have a nurse traveling with one, as we had in England, is very convenient and understandable, but the way people turn over the care of their babies completely from one month up, and leave their upbringing entirely to a maid for several years, is the strangest thing to us. The way Bobby lives according to schedule and the comparative ease with which Myra can take care of him is a wonder to an English lady.

Gibraltar was the first stop and this was most interesting. The town is nestled against the giant mass of rock at the foot, and although dry and rather barren looking, it made an interesting scene from the harbor. The tender went in at 11:45 and as Bobby's nap time was just after that, I went alone instead of our trying to take Bobby. It was the first Spanish town I had seen and was decidedly interesting, with the characteristic architecture and the swarthy people everywhere. Mixed in with them were Moroccans. I suppose, with their fez and dark beards and long white garments. There was not time to climb up the fort, so I simply sauntered through the town, buying post cards and flowers. To my surprise I found American money as much in evidence as English; the cryers of silks, etc., around the tender. I went alone instead of our trying to take Bobby. PRELIMINARY MEETING HELD BY FARMERS

Arrangements Made For Holding Various Institutes in County—Delegates Named to State Convention.

There was a good meeting Thursday afternoon at the Avers National bank in the interest of the farmers' institute, and while bad weather kept some away, there was a good attendance of persons interested in the important undertaking. It certainly seems that the enterprise has come to stay and certainly too it will be of lasting benefit to all who have any interest in agriculture.

The meeting was held according to announcement and in the absence of President Edward D. Scott, Superintendent Charles H. Story was called to the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The report of the treasurer, R. H. Toher, showed a balance of $168.48.

Superintendent delegates to attend the institute at . . . W. E. . . best efforts to bring for Jacksonville.

ville. The president, superintendent and secretary were made a committee to arrange for the lines and places of the institutes during the present year.

C. Justus Wright and J. H. Dial were appointed a committee to arrange a uniform exhibition list for the coming meetings. Superintendent Story was appointed a committee of one to promote the establishment of a free seed station for distribution to boys and girls of school age in the county.

It was recommended that five or six institutes be held in places in the county in which they could best serve the interests of the farmers of the community.

Secretary Fritchey of the Business Men's association was present and assured the meeting that the association would cooperate with the institute in every way possible and suggested that the farmers' institute and the Business Men's association should hold a farmers' exhibition at the chautauqua to be held the latter part of August or the first of September and have an exhibition at the poultry show in December or January.

The suggestions were taken under advisement and will have due consideration. The meeting voted thanks to the managers of the Avers National bank for the use of its rooms for the meeting.

HYPOCRISY AT SPRINGFIELD.

Bloomington, Pantagraph: The utter insincerity and hypocrisy of much of the clamor about the "rule of the people" is shown by the present situation at Springfield. This is especially noticeable in the contest for the senatorship. So far as the people of Illinois are concerned, their choice of senator has been clearly indicated. The Republican voters have said they wanted Judge L. Y. Sherman and the Democratic voters have declared as clearly in favor of the election of Col. James Hamilton Lewis.

It happens that there are two vacancies and the joint assembly will have to choose two senators. Under such conditions, if the general assembly is anxious to respect the wishes of the people, the way is clear and the duty of that body plain. There should be no question that the two men indicated by the popular vote should be ratified by the assembly. Factional feeling should yield to the prevailing sentiment in favor of having senators chosen direct. This is what we should expect after all that has been said in that behalf in the last campaign. Now what do we find? So far from trying to respect the expressed wish of the people there is apparently a studied purpose to ignore the people and name one or more men who were never considered for the office previous to the election of members of the legislature.

Medill McCormick of Chicago is on the ground an avowed candidate for one of the honors. And yet McCormick, whose right to a seat in the house is even questioned, never received a vote by the people for that office. He was not known or suspected as a candidate. And yet, after burdening the last campaign with a continuous clamor about getting the government nearer the people, he is conspiring to take a seat directly away from the people. He is ready right now to enter into any kind of a deal that will land him in the place of Cullom or Lorimer. He would defeat Sherman, who was the choice of the Republican voters and many Progressives as well. He would defeat Lewis, the Democratic candidate—defeat anyone in fact—if he can only secure the honor for himself other Progressives, with as little claim to the favor of the people, are striving to the same end.

It is as freely stated that the Democrats are ready to turn Colonel Lewis down and agree on some other candidate—and this after Lewis has made a campaign of the state for senator and received the cordial endorsement of his party. Let these political jobbers and traders go ahead and control the senatorship if they can. But in the name of decency and consistency should stop their yap about the rule of the people, direct government and all that sort of stuff that was promulgated so profusely from the stump. If they do not send to the senate the men who received the people's votes they should be candid enough to confess the delusion they have been promoting and acknowledge that they are after the offices as a first consideration, with or without the endorsement of the people of the state.

SUFFRAGISTS GRANTED PERMISSION TO HOLD PARADE IN WASHINGTON

Ten Thousand Expected to Take Part in Pageant—Some Will March From New York.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Permission today was granted by the District of Columbia authorities for the woman's suffrage parade on Pennsylvania avenue on March 3 next. Approximately 10,000 women, it is expected, will take part in the pageant. At its conclusion the suffragists will hold a mass meeting in Continental Hall. Extra police will maintain order along the line of march.

Will March From New York.
New York, Jan. 9.—A march of suffragettes volunteering from all parts of New York state, with "on to Washington" as the program, will be begun in this city Feb. 10, according to announcement made to-night by General Rosalie Jones, leader of the "votes for women" band which recently carried a message from New York to Governor Sulzer at Albany.

Welcoming recruits as they proceed southward, the women plan to reach Washington in time to add themselves to the ranks of marchers in the woman suffrage parade the day before Woodrow Wilson's inauguration. Of the loyal few who tramped to Albany, "General" Jones and "Colonel" Miss Ada A. Craft have promised to make the Washington journey, and one or two others are in the "probable" class to-night.

The start will be made on the New York side of the Hudson river at 8:45 a. m., one month from tomorrow. By easy stages, each day the "army" will pass through New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania and Maryland. There will be campaigning for votes along the way. Rallies will be held in Philadelphia, Baltimore and other cities.

The route and the dates when the suffragettes will reach various places have not been announced.

PICKS PHYSICIAN'S POCKET WHILE BEING EXAMINED
Chicago, Jan. 9.—Dr. William Healy, examining physician for the juvenile court today examined a boy and pronounced him sub-normal. Judge Pinckney, who was hearing the case questioned the physician carefully about the case.

"You are certain he is sub-normal," was asked.
"Absolutely," replied the physician.

"Then," the judge said, holding up a watch, "would you mind telling me if this is your watch?"
The physician grinned and admitted it was.

The boy had picked his pocket while being examined. Pending further examination of the youth by the physician the case was continued.

MAY AMEND PARCEL POST LAW SO AS TO INCLUDE PRINTED MATTER

Steps Have Been Taken to Induce Congress to Take Such Action.

Washington, Jan. 9.—In the judgment of postoffice department officials, books and other printed matter, now handled as third class mail at eight cents a pound, soon will be made mailable as parcel post matter. Steps, it became known today, already have been taken to induce congress to amend the parcels post act so as to permit printed matter to be sent by parcel post.

Postmaster General Hitchcock decided today that senders of parcel post packages containing merchandise might enclose printed matter descriptive of the contents without affecting their classification.

He held that the object of the parcel post law was to encourage the mailing of greater quantities of fourth class matter. It was shown to him that much of the merchandise sent by the parcel post required descriptive tags or labels, and in his decision he held that such printed matter came within the term "for purpose of description used in the law."

The new order will be of advantage not only to users of the parcel post but also to the government, it is said.

WILL APPEAL FROM RULING.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Officials of the Chicago sanitary district to day declared their intentions of appealing from the ruling of Secretary of War Stimson, denying an application to increase the canal flow. The district will appeal to President Taft and in the event of his sustaining the ruling of Secretary Stimson will take its case before congress or to the United States supreme court. After conferring with the sanitary district officials to day Attorney Edmund C. Agcock left for Washington where he will appear before Secretary Stimson to-morrow in a final effort for Chicago's behalf.

WILL HAVE CHURCH SUPPER IN MARCH.

Brotherhood of State Street Church

ing Meeting Thursday Evening.

At the regular meeting Thursday evening the members of the Brotherhood of State Street Presbyterian church decided to have the annual church supper in March. This will be held about three or four weeks before the annual church meeting, which is to be about April first.

At the meeting Thursday evening about forty members of the brotherhood were in attendance, which is the largest number that has attended for some time. After dinner had been served a program of music was given by Prof. W. E. Kritch and Prof. Edmund Manger and William Reipschlagler gave a reading, "Trouble in the Amos Corner." A general discussion on the annual church supper was led by L. O. Vaught and it was decided to hold a "hard time" supper for the congregation in March. The ladies of the church have been furnishing the supper heretofore and the men decided to take entire charge this time and to that end a general committee composed of L. O. Vaught, C. H. Russell, J. B. Slebert and J. K. C. Pierson was appointed by the president, T. M. Tomlinson. Two numbers on the program were omitted on account of sickness.

An excellent menu was served at the supper Thursday evening and it was in charge of Mrs. James H. Danskin, who was assisted by the following ladies: Mrs. C. A. Barnes, Miss Nellie Cunningham, Mrs. Felix Farrell, Miss Mamie Dobyns, Miss Goebel and Mrs. A. M. Masters.

WERE GIVEN CHAIRVARI.
Mr. and Mrs. John Gibbs, who were recently married and reside at 1218 South Main street, were given a chairvari Thursday evening by twenty-five young people of the Lynaville neighborhood. The young folk went to the residence in bobsleds, taking along plenty of noise. The newly-weds were rather looking for callers and were not completely surprised when the merry-makers arrived. The evening was spent in a delightful social way by the use of games and with music and some splendid refreshments were served. The guests on departing wished Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs a long and happy married life.

NEW RULES GOVERNING WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIPS

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Radical changes are shown in the new rules governing wrestling championships of the National Amateur Athletic union issued today.

Preliminary bouts hereafter will be terminated by a fall, and may not go over 10 minutes. Final bouts will be limited to 15 minutes. Under the old rules preliminaries and finals were allowed to go only six minutes. The new rules put a premium on endurance and will necessitate changes in training methods.

DEMANDS ALLOWED FROM ESTATE

Fond Du Lac, Wis., Jan. 9.—Suit was filed today by Mrs. Mary Minahan against the estate of her former husband Dr. W. E. Minahan who went down with the Titanic, for an allowance for which to support and educate their daughter. At the time of the divorce of the couple twelve years ago, Dr. Minahan was ordered to pay $25 a month to the mother for the child's aid until his death. A WONDERFUL CONVENIENCE.

The Ayers National Bank Building Fully Appreciated By the Public.

When the Ayers National bank building was completed it was at once announced that all persons so desiring would be welcome to use the commodious and convenient basement rooms for the purpose of meetings of any kind such as committees and anything of the sort and this invitation was tendered to all no matter whether customers or not.

Thursday afternoon the invitation was accepted by the officials and friends of the farmers' institute who took possession of the main room and held their preliminary meeting there and were led in their praises of the light, commodious and convenient place for meeting.

The fact is: These apartments meet a long felt want and will constantly become more and more popular as they become better understood. It is a fine thing to have a large, well lighted apartment with telephones, writing material, tables and chairs always ready for use and free of cost and people will appreciate such enterprise and not be slow to avail themselves of its benefits.

It is not even demanded that permission be asked in advance but any committees or gatherings of any sort desiring to get together may announce the meeting at the Ayers National bank building and the place will be ready.

In addition to the larger apartment there are two or three smaller ones so that more than one or two bodies may be accommodated at the same time if not too large.

Three 50c ties for $1.00 at Garland & Co.'s clearance sale.

SLEIGH OVERTURNS.
Thursday morning a sleigh being driven by Andrew Russell and his son was overturned on West State street and both of the occupants were thrown out, but luckily neither sustained injuries. They started to drive past a wagon on the street and one of the runners caught in the car track, which caused the accident.

MATRIMONIAL

Frank-Henn.
John Frank of Orleans and Miss Mary Henn were married at St. Augustine's Catholic church at Ashland Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, nuptial high mass being celebrated by Rev. Father Murry. They were attended by Miss Clara Frank, a sister of the groom, and George Henn, a brother of the bride and the party entered the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. Henry Henn.

The bride was attired in white chiffon over white silk, wore a white picture hat and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bride's maid wore blue messaline with hat to match and carried pink roses. Following the ceremony a vocal solo: "O, Promise Me," was sung by Thomas Yorgershof of Springfield. A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Henn, in Ashland at 12 o'clock, to about 100 guests. After a short wedding trip the young couple will reside at Orleans.

CHICAGO "DUMPING GROUND" FOR ALL PAROLED CONVICTS.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Chicago is the "dumping ground" for paroled convicts, Mayor Carter Harrison declared today in a statement in which he denounced the leniency of the courts as responsible for the present wave of crime in this city. Too much sentiment in dealing with criminals, he charged, is responsible for the epidemic of highway robberies and holdups here. Leniency to persons caught with revolvers is another grave mistake, according to the mayor.

The mayor said that it was unfortunate that it had been made public that automobiles carrying detectives armed with rifles and instructed to kill were patrolling the city in search of automobile bandits.
